Me

I am very people oriented and I enjoy being with my clients. I am a good listener. The personal relationship is the core of my business.

I have an international background. This is appreciated by my Swiss and Swiss-based clientele who are themselves internationally oriented.

I am neutral and independent and I know the market in Switzerland. This allows me to always make the best offers for my clients at any particular time in a constantly changing market.

I have an abundance of imagination, which allows me to capture the big picture. I enjoy the rapport with my clients and love helping them find great financial solutions to realise their dreams.
